

Orlí Street Theatre / Musically Dramatic Lab of JAMU

Theatre space sound equipment

In terms of sound devices, Orlí Street Theatre is designed as a multifunctional and flexible environment with the possibility to respond to the most demanding requirements of the production and implementation team. Performance sound may be controlled both from a live post as well as from the sound booth, which is also equipped with the technology needed for performance audio recording, therefore performances may be recorded live. Dual solution of the building consists of wiring installation for both analogue and digital audio signals, and enables simple operation of small and inexpensive events, but also offers comprehensive staging and implementation of major works. Additionally, you can use the connection to the recording studio in the basement, for example for musicians playing live from separate premises in acoustically difficult situations.
